MARSHAL BLOCKS PORTABLE CLASS ROOMS

Gene Morrison oversees Emily Davis and Cindy Blanton at the "home for the aged" in the comedy "The Silver Whistle". The show will play on the Canyon High School stage tonight and Saturday night at 8:15 p.m.

Two Buildings Are Tagged Fire Traps

BY TROY MARTIN

Fire Marshal Jack Jennings has halted building on two portable class rooms for use at Rex Reeves School by refusing to sign a building permit for them.

"I will not approve of you building a fire trap," Jennings was quoted as having told School Superintendent Jerry Jacobs.

"I told him we weren't building fire traps but two portable class rooms," Jacobs told a meeting of Canyon school board Tuesday night.

Jacobs said he asked Jennings by what authority he refused the permit and was told that it is the duty of the fire marshal to determine the safety of a building being constructed.

Jennings was reported to have further stated that he would never approve any school building not constructed of masonry.

"He finally agreed to accept a steel construction on a concrete slab," Jacobs said.

Jennings was asked if he would approve a wood structure if it were fire proofed and he replied that he would not, according to Jacobs.

Jacobs said he explained to the fire marshal that such structures are being used all over the country and pointed to the Amarillo and Hereford school districts as examples but the fire marshal was adamant.

"If it is not approved all along the road and something happens in one of those little buildings you and I are going to get personally sued as well as the school," Dr. Dudley Moore, board president, warned the trustees.

"If he can do this, he can dictate anything that anybody builds," Jacobs declared. Jacobs said the structures being built by the buildings trade class are safer than any frame building in Canyon.

"It's safer than the house you live in," he told Board Member Jerry LaGrone.

Through a mix-up in communications the buildings were under way before an effort was made to secure a permit. When School Business Manager Bob Phillips applied for a permit, it was refused because Jennings wouldn't sign it.

Jacobs asked the school board to join him in meeting with the city commission this evening to appeal the case.

"I wish I could say it would be held in a fine masonry building," the superintendent said, "but I can't. If this (the two portable class rooms) are fire traps I regret the city spent $14,000 on a fire trap (Canyon Community Center). I even regret they took over the old lumber yard (city hall annex)."

Earlier the board had heard a talk by Colonel John Childs and James Hanks on the possibility of incorporating Junior Re-

To Meet Hornets

Last Eagle Home Game

The Canyon Eagles play Tulia Friday night but their hopes of a bi-district berth will be riding on the clash between Levelland and Dumas.

The Eagles meet the much improved Hornets at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in Buffalo Bowl in the last scheduled game of the season.

Coach Dunny Goode said that in spite of the Hornet 0-9 record for the season they could be tough to handle. He pointed out that Tulia had Levelland's Lobos 8-0 at the half last Friday night.

Tulia Quarterback Don Payne is a good runner and passes well. The 150-pound junior likes to throw to Martin Attwood, a senior tight end.

Tulia's best back is reported to be Aubrey Rogers, a 175-pound senior. Their best lineman is Ricky Foutch, 198-pound senior.

The Hornets run from a wishbone T and variations of it. They often split ends and slot back.

"They are the most improved ball club in the district," Coach Goode declared. "Canyon is their big game of the year, too. We are close together and there is a lot of rivalry. We will have to have great effort from our team to beat Tulia."

Goode said his charges are in good physical condition although Van James has had a pulled muscle.

Coach Goode praised the Eagle defense for efforts in the 7-0 victory over Muleshoe. "Our defense did a great job," said the Eagle head coach. "I'm proud of our defense for the whole year." He pointed out that except for Dumas and Pampa there was no heavy scoring against that defensive unit this season.

On the defense for last Friday night's game Coach Goode singled out James Boyce, Daryl Breitling, John Lewis, Frank Belcher and Kelly Tinsley for extra praise.

He was complimentary to offense players Bobby Gray, Mike Podzemny, Rick Edmondson, Cliff Prichard and Matt Hansen. "Jerry Carlile did a fine job on punt returns," he declared.

Canyon fans will be awaiting intently the outcome of the Levelland-Dumas game Friday night. The Lobos meet the Demons at Dumas.

If Canyon and Levelland should win, the district would be in a three-way tie and would require a coin toss to determine the team to represent the district in bi-district play.

Monahans of District 2-AAA has taken the possibility serious enough to have scouted Levelland, Canyon and Dumas the last three games.

City Meet Is Tonight

Regular meeting of Canyon city commission will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the Canyon Community Center.

The commission will discuss goals for Canyon submitted by City Planner Marvin Springer.

Pancake Supper

St. Ann's Catholic Church will have a Pancake Supper and Bake Sale Saturday from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the Canyon Community Center.

Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children.

Buffs To Compete In MVC Next Year

Missouri Valley Conference commissioner DeWitt Weaver announced Monday in Dallas a plan which will allow West Texas State University and Drake University to compete for the conference football championship in 1971.

West Texas, which was voted into the conference in June, and Drake, a longtime member of the league, didn't compete for the title this season because of scheduling difficulties.

The plan utlizies the 11th game possibilities opened earlier this year by the NCAA and also allows the teams in the league to designate certain games against non-league opponents as "conference" games.

A 1973 deadline was set to achieve a full conference scheduling plan.

"We are anxious to compete for the football championship as soon as possible," said West Texas State head coach and director of

Speaker On New Morality Slated

"The New Morality--A Second Look" will be the speech topic of the Rev. Gerald E. Mann Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Activities Center ballroom.

Rev. Mann is pastor of Hereford First Baptist Church. He is being co-sponsored by the Student Activities Council and the Baptist Student Union.

The Rev. Mann has delivered speeches at the University of Texas, Sam Houston State, University of Corpus Christi, Wayland, University of Houston, and Rice University.

Born December 18, 1937 in Houston, Rev. Mann was reared in West Columbia, Texas. He graduated from high school in 1956. He was selected to the All-State football team and was a member of the honor society.

Rev. Mann received his B.A. degree from the University of Corpus Christi in 1960. At UCC he participated in football and baseball and was president of the student body.

He attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth and received his Master of Divinity in 1964. His major was in philosophy and history. He received his Doctor of Theology in 1969, majoring in philosophy.

He has also studied at the University of Houston, Rice University, and the Union Theological Seminary in

Buffs To Host Southern Miss

When West Texas State's Buffaloes close their football season at 2 p.m. Saturday in Buffalo Bowl against the University of Southern Mississippi Southerners, it will be Wichita State Fund Day.

The Southerners, who shocked the nation earlier this fall with a 30-14 victory over previously unbeaten Mississippi, will bring a 4-5 record into the game. That record doesn't tell the entire story of the Southerners, as they proved with the win over Ole Miss that they are capable of beating anyone on a given Saturday.

Ole Miss has lost only to Southern Mississippi and holds wins this season over such teams as Alabama, Kentucky, Memphis State, Georgia, Vanderbilt and Houston.

West Texas State athletic officials and students are pushing this week to put as many fans in the stands for Saturday's game as is possible.

Boy Scouts, Boy Scout leaders and WTSU cheerleaders will take up a collection in the second quarter of the game and that money will be sent to the Wichita State Fund.

The fund was established following the tragic plane crash Oct. 2 which claimed the lives of 17 Wichita State football players, head coach Bert Katzenmeyer and head football coach Ben Wilson.

The fund was started through the joint efforts of the NCAA, the American Football Coaches Association, the National Association of College Athletic Directors, the Football Writers of America, the Collegiate Commissioners Association, College Sports Information Directors and the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

All funds contributed will go to a committee composed of the organizers, which has been set up to administer the Fund and all funds will be accounted for and audited.

The fraternities and sororities on campus will help by selling tickets to the game.

The Southern Mississippi-West Texas game has several factors involved which

T. Texas Tyler Coming To Local Church Friday

Mr. Tyler is one of the few country and western artists to ever appear in concert at New York's famed Carnegie Hall. He has also been under a movie contract to Columbia Studios in Hollywood and appeared in various Westerns. He is considered one of the all-time greats in the annals of Country and

Black Instructions Lacking

To Offer Afro Courses

BY SAM ALLRED

"Afro-American" courses will be offered at West Texas State University for the 1971-72 school year, but the chances of black instructors teaching the courses are not too good.

The courses, an English junior-level course surveying the works of black authors and a History sophomore-level study, have been in the mill for some time but have been hampered because of a lack of qualified instructors.

Dr. Duane Guy, chairman of the History Department, said a senior-level course entitled "Readings in History" was offered last spring, but was a "stop gap measure."

"Students came to us and wanted a course offered for the fall of 1969," Dr. Guy said. "We couldn't do it because it wasn't offered in the catalogue. We agreed to offer the Readings in History and also agreed we would set up a course entitled Afro-American History."

The department chairman said the first course was team taught by members of the department and at the moment it looks doubtful that a qualified black instructor can be found for the Afro-American History.

"I returned Saturday from a two-day conference in Louisville," Dr. Guy said. "There were 300 applicants seeking 35 jobs in history departments, but there was not one person in the whole bunch who was black. Qualified black instructors are just not available."

If black instructors are available somewhere, few of those who know on campus see any reason the instructors would want to come to WTSU.

"Many schools are making an honest effort to integrate their faculties because they know it is long overdue," Dr. Guy said. "Black instructors can ask and get a salary considerably above the salary an equally qualified white person can get."

Dr. Walter Juniper, vice president for academic affairs, echoed the sentiments of the history department chairman.

"Black instructors are just not interested in coming to West Texas State," Dr. Juniper said. "In all our publications we have indicated we are an equal opportunity employer and we haven't received any reaction."

Dr. Juniper said he would not see anything unusual about a white instructor teaching an Afro-American course.

"There is nothing incongruous about a white person teaching anything if he knows his stuff," he said. "There is nothing incongruous about a black person teaching anything if he knows his stuff. You cannot go by color."

Dr. Guy indicated that he would "not hesitate to hire a qualified black instructor but I would not hire him solely because of the color of his skin."

Whether students, black or white, in an Afro-American study course could identify with a white instructor is open to question, but there does not seem to be much choice in the matter.

"The only difficulty I can see in a white instructor teaching black history is that he possibly couldn't have the feel of the course," Dr. Guy said.

Dr. R. A. Malzahn, dean of the school of arts and sciences, said the entire is-

Two years ago this column sponsored a fund to buy a color television set for La Casa Canyon, home for elderly people here in Canyon.

This year I am trying to raise enough money to give the home a new piano for Christmas.

It took us exactly two weeks to raise the money to buy the color television set. I wish everyone who contributed could visit La Casa and see how much pleasure the people who live there get from that set.

Don York, who runs the home, tells me that it is on most of the day and up into the evening. Bud Parker sold the set to us at his cost and Alvin Kuhlman has kept it in good repair free of charge since.

We had money from all over the US to pay for the TV. I believe the people who read this column will be just as generous in buying a piano.

Anyone wishing to contribute should make their checks payable to La Casa Canyon Piano Fund. Checks may be deposited either at the West Texas State Bank or First National Bank.

Two years ago when the Eagles played Muleshoe The Canyon News sports writer was refused admission to the Muleshoe press box. He sat in the stands and covered the game the best he could.

This year it was cold and chance of covering the game from the stands was nil. So I called the high school principal at Muleshoe last Friday morning to make arrangements for a seat in the press box. He said he didn't have anything to do with the press box and that I had better call Mr. Dillman, the superintendent.

I spent another 95 cents with Mrs. Bell and talked to Superintendent Dillman. Mr. Dillman was a little negative even on the telephone.

He allowed that Muleshoe has been having its lumps with pseudo newspapermen arming themselves with a nickle notebook (where Mr. Dillman manages to buy his notebooks for a nickle I'll never know) and sneaking into the game free.

I assured Mr. Dillman that my intent was not to beat the Muleshoe school system out of a buck. I know the crops have been bad in Bailey County this year. So I told Mr. Dillman I'd be glad to pay for a ticket to the game but I had to get into that press box because I didn't want to have to explain to the Canyon Eagles why there was no story about the game in the Sunday paper.

Mr. Dillman said he could arrange it and since he is superintendent of the schools there I figured he had the influence to swing the deal. He did tell me that I would have to get to town about an hour early so I made arrangements to pick up the press pass at 6 o'clock at his office.

I arrived in Muleshoe early and reported to the office. Mr. Dillman had the pass ready for me complete with his signature and I toddled off to supper at a place called the Corral blissfully unaware that in less than two hours the spotter I took with me to the game would be asking for combat pay.

My spotter and I arrived at the press box about 7:15. A belligrent bald headed man who looked like a wrestler but turned out to be a math teacher barred the way.

I showed him my pass. He looked at it like he had never heard of the name Dillman.

"We don't have any reservations for you," he said in an unfriendly tone.

I will spare you the gruesome details of the conversation that ensued. I threatened to walk out and he offered to save me the trouble by throwing me out.

I finally got a seat but covered the game under the threatening eye of Muleshoe's press box bouncer.

I talked to Mr. Dillman after the game.

"Don't jump on me," was his rebuttal.

I didn't get to town in time to see the noble creature but I can certainly understand why the folks there erected the statue of a mule to symbolize their community.

The Canyon Eagle football team has had a great season. A win over Tulia could give it a cinch second place in district standings and a possible tie for the championship.

If Levelland were to win over Dumas, possible but not likely, the bi-district representative would be decided with a flip of the coin.

True, the Eagles took a shellacking from both Pampa and Dumas but disregarding these two powerhouses they have scored more points than their other opponents combined.

The other games they have lost have been by razor thin margins, Caprock 14, Canyon 7; Spearman 7, Canyon 6; Clovis 6, Canyon 0. As a matter of fact in the seven outings, excluding Pampa and Dumas, the Eagles have scored 52 points as compared to 46 by their combined opponents.

Letters To The Editor

Nov. 9, 1970

Mr. Martin,

Please spare your readers the gruesome details of such articles as the one recently published on the front page of the Canyon News about Mr. Kinsolving. True your readers need to be made aware of such circumstances, and the speakers being invited to the West Texas State University campus, which our tax dollars are helping to pay for, but you are a man of publicity, well versed in the American language, and whom I feel sure could have chosen more subtle wording for the article. Rather than to print the whole dirty story on the front page, thereby inticing teenage and child readers, who could have been spared the sordid details. To call Mr. Kinsolving a Man of the Cloth, is truly a slap in the face, to all the millions of deserving good Christian men whom we have preaching the true word of God. I dare say you have had the privilege of hearing a sermon in Church, which could and should be shared with the many subscribers, and would do much more good. The publicity received by Mr. Kinsolving, on the front page, is just exactly what he and all the other "cerebrally demented" lower forms of life, as he is want, and are seeking. I sincerely feel if they did not receive public awareness through newsmedia, they would crawl back in their little holes where they belong.

While on the subject of education, there's another situation, which I feel needs to be called to the attention of the taxpayers. Many of the residents have been contacted just this past 2 weeks by the Junior Class of the Canyon High School, asking for magazine subscription renewals or new subscriptions. These young men and women are out working their hearts out showing their loyalty and school spirit, earning money for their Prom and a gift, which they will present to Canyon High School upon their Graduation in 1972. Do you know that they will receive only 6 tickets per student to their own Graduation ceremonies? If their own family numbers more than six, well that's too bad. They may not even invite their own dear Grandparents, and close family friends, to one of the most important events, in their lives. One for which they have worked for 12 years.

In my opinion this is a gross misapplication of tax dollars. to have planned a new High School, and planned a facility which will not accommodate the some 200 seniors of 1970, including their parents, family, and very dear friends. I consider the idea of mailing Graduation Announcements to family and friends, and meeting them at the door of the High School Auditorium, and refusing entry because they have no ticket, the epitomy of bad taste. Tell me should these young men and women, not feel cheated of one of their "Moments of Glory". Why should they go out of their way to show loyalty and school spirit.

I am not too well acquainted in the City of Canyon, but somewhere in the city, there should be a facility, which would be large enough to take care of the crowd, even Buffalo Bowl if necessary. Though outdoors could prove inclement, ceremonies have been held in football stadiums for centuries.

Please, some of you other parents, state your opinion to School and Public Officials. Let's not sit back and let our young people be cheated. Mind you there is no one who has greater regard for our teachers than I do, I feel teachers are very special people, or I would not have trusted the impressionable minds of our children to them. Had proper planning been involved, it seems to me the increased enrollment could have been foreseen, and thus a facility large enough.

Letter To The Editor:

I read with interest The Canyon News of Nov. 1, "From The Canyon Rim" by Troy Martin. Of special interest to me was his comparison of "the liberal" and "the conservative," a comparison which I believe was terribly misleading. Mr. Martin told of his own view of what "liberal" and "conservative" mean. I was glad he made it clear he was only speaking his own mind, as I feel certain that no textbook, author, or publication of any kind would support his view of the liberal "body" versus the conservative "spirit". If such a source exists, I merely disagree with it as I disagree with Mr. Martin.

Conservatism does not mean "spirit" or "freedom", it indicates a desire to resist change. (I am not speaking of change by violence; we should all deplore that). Mr. Martin's characterization of conservatism as freedom-producing is misleading, for it provides freedom primarily to those born to or placed in an environment that encourages the qualities of freedom, individual initiative and motivation. The reason a liberal often becomes more collectivist is that he recognizes that many people need help in progressing socially, materially and spiritually. Many people, without some help, would never know that a better life, a more fulfilled life, is even possible outside of their ghetto, their tenement house, their migrant labor camp, their hurricane-damaged community, or their intentionally-segregated school.

Perhaps, because of its small size and particular geographic location, Canyon experiences so few problems of minority discrimination, overpopulation and environmental pollution (to name just a few), Mr. Martin believes the problems should be ignored. This is easy for some people to do, but it is a deplorable thing to do because the problems will remain until they are faced and solved. Admittedly, some of the solutions attempted are wrong and must be discarded. But to label the problems a result of lack of "individual effort" or "shallow thought" as Mr. Martin does is to refuse to admit a problem exists and is absurd. You must face the difficulties in the current American society if you expect to reap the benefits of living here. When more people recognize the problems in our society and attempt to solve them instead of blaming the people who bring up the problems, Mr. Martin's "big government. . . (who) . . . will take everything you have" will have less to do with individual citizens and Mr. Martin and I both will be more satisfied.

Thank you,
B. Telic

(Ed. Note: Mr. Telic has the three-point markings of a liberal (1) He openly advocates the cause of collectivism, the historic adversary of all freedom (2) He writes off as absurd and ignorant those who disagree with him. (3) He took the gutty approach of giving no address and using an obviously fictitious name.)

Local Woman's Mother Dies

New Mexico Is Accepted Into MVC

New Mexico State University has been accepted into the Missouri Valley Conference Saturday to become the tenth member.

New Mexico State, long a rival of West Texas State University, has been an independent since 1962 when the old Border Conference was dissolved.

Other members of the Missouri Valley are West Texas State, Tulsa, North Texas State, Bradley, Wichita State, St. Louis, Memphis State, Drake and Louisville.

Our World

BY ANN BROWN

The Randall County District Court is rapidly acquiring a reputation that merits the humble gratitude of every citizen in the county. Let us pray that Randall's good example may be emulated by every county in the state, and every state in the nation. It should be obvious that when we return to being the home of the brave, we will be the land of the free again. Randall County juries have been meting out punishment to fit the crimes. One South Amarillo felon reportedly said that he would not have committed the crime had he known he was in Randall County.

Felons are beginning to plead guilty rather than risk a Randall jury. Think of all the money that will save the taxpayers, as well as the precious time of the court.

It has long been a standing joke among defense attorneys that they prefer to trust their client's fate to the ignorance of the jury. Anyone who has ever served on a jury panel knows that the more intelligent one appears, the less likely he is to be selected as a juror.

If a lawyer defending a guilty client has a choice between door-to-door salesmen, cleaning women, and business executives, there is little doubt of his selection. Not all people lacking formal education are ignorant, but devious lawyers evidently prefer to risk them.

Traditionally, Americans vote against the party in power; it is the best method we have of registering displeasure with performance.

It is an indictment of our era that campaign promises are accepted as travesties. The fact that independents are garnering many votes and a few elections should tell the politicians that voters are tired of all talk and no walk. The Nixon Administration was elected on the promise to curb wild federal spending and unbridled crime. Johnson left the capitol with a frightening budget of $100 billion, and people afraid to walk the streets. Now what do we have? A budget of more than $200 billion, and people scared to stay behind locked doors, without guns!

It is true that Nixon is not entirely to blame. He did veto some of the big-spending bills, and our prodigal Congress passed them over his veto. It is also true that several of those big spenders were not returned to Congress.

The whopping crime bill that was recently passed by Congress will raise our taxes, but it is not likely to deter crime. Swift apprehension, conviction, and punishment is the only deterrent criminals understand. And that has to start at the local level. It takes courage to convict felons, but only courageous people can expect to be free.

The U.S. slipped into the slough of despond back in the thirties when we began looking to Washington to solve all our problems. Any time one expects another to do his work he can get ready to pay the bill. Randall people are trying to solve their problems in the only place they can be solved--at home.

Many good Americans feel that our situation is already hopeless and we are doomed. So we are--if we wait for Washington to save us.

No one has ever said it better than Shakespeare did: The fault lies not in our stars, but in ourselves.

Stompers To Host Tulsa Today

West Texas State University's freshman football team hosts the University of Tulsa's freshmen at 2 p.m. Thursday in Buffalo Bowl.

Thursday's clash will be the only game of the season for the West Texas squad of coach Roy Winters. Tulsa has a 0-3 record, losing to the University of Oklahoma, the Tulsa red-shirts and the University of Arkansas.

Admission to the game is $3 for adults, $1 for students other than those from West Texas State. WTSU students will be admitted with their activity card.

The young Buffaloes had a game among themselves last month. They were to have played the Wichita State freshmen, but Wichita was granted permission following the plane crash to play its freshmen on the varsity.

Swine Program Revised As Interest Increases

The increased interest in hog operations in the Texas Panhandle has prompted the West Texas State University School of Agriculture to make extensive revisions in its swine program, John McNeill, animal science instructor, said.

The 20-pen swine testing station at the university farm, one mile north of the campus, had been doubled. The east wing is in the process of being renovated, increasing the hog capacity to 300, McNeill said.

The 12-foot by 8-foot enclosures have been re-enforced by all steel stalls to cut down on maintenance. Beneath the concrete floors runs an automatic water system piped into each pen. A heating element in each water bowl prevents freezing in winter months. Scales and working pens are being installed now to complete the facility.

The renovation project will provide for a large permanent swine testing station at the farm. The remainder of the university's swine program and other livestock operations, however, will be relocated at the George Nance Hereford Ranch, six miles east of Canyon, in January.

McNeill hopes that the Nance Ranch Project, a money-raising drive now underway to recruit at least $100,000 for conversion of the facility into a research center, will provide the funds needed for a new farrowing barn.

West Texas State University is one of the leading swine testing stations in the Southwest today. . . with the recent research projects. . . possibly the number one in Texas," McNeill said.

The animal nutritionist has gained the attention of swine-breeders and nutritionists across the nation with his experiments on processed milo rations and their effects on swine performance. The first experiment was conducted at the farm in a cooperative project with Texas Tech University.

The second phase, completed this week, was sponsored by Funk Brothers Seed Co., a world-wide seed corporation, and Charles Pfizer and Co., Inc., Terre Haute, Indiana. Chardo Pierce of Lubbock and J.R. Taylor of Amarillo were also involved.

"The results of this experiment have not been compiled and are still confidential," McNeill said. The test results may be released in the next few weeks.

McNeill expects even more inquiries about the results of the latest phase of his experiment. "I have received correspondence from nutritionists, lawyers, doctors, . . . everyone," McNeill said.

With the expansion of the swine facilities, McNeill hopes to continue larger studies of the micronized grain process, invented by Chardo Pierce, and how it compares with the pelleted rations. Studies of palatability and performance efficiency of varying combinations of milo and wheat in swine rations may also be in the mill, he added.

Beauty Queen's Social Life Changes

Harletta Capps, pretty Vernon coed, was crowned Texas Farm Bureau Queen last week. Since then her social calendar has taken on a new look. She will travel all over Texas to make public appearances and speak at various functions. Her travel plans also include the governor's inauguration in Austin.

Social life for Harletta Capps, a dark-haired beauty from Vernon, has changed a lot in one year's time.

The lovely WT coed has met both Miss Texas and Miss America over this past year and now sports a state beauty crown herself.

Just last week Miss Capps was crowned Texas Farm Bureau Queen over a field of twleve other contestants. Her social calendar now shows numerous speaking engagements and public appearances. Her plans include the governor's inauguration and ball in January.

The state queen contest was held in the Hilton Hotel in Ft. Worth where the Farm Bureau Convention was taking place. On the night of the contest she reported that her mother had already packed their car to leave.

"That's how much confidence she had in my winning," the Queen laughed. "We were planning to go back to Vernon when the contest was over, no matter how late it was."

"When I won... there were awards to hand out, a banquet in my honor to attend..and, we had to go unpack the car."

"I had my first plane ride returning to WT," she said. "It was kind of bumpy."

"I got back to the dorm about 1 a.m. Wednesday morning and had to wake up the dorm mother," she remembered. "She was very nice."

"On campus, people I don't even know come up and congratulate me," she said with her brown eyes sparkling.

The queen contest was judged according to beauty, poise, personality, and appearance.

"We also had to give a speech entitled "Why I'm Glad My Family is a Member of Farm Bureau," she said.

When asked if she had advice to give other would-be contestants she said, "You just have to make the audience feel as if they are up there with you. They need to relate to you."

"You should also be relaxed, not stiff," she explained.

Before winning the state title Miss Capps had been named the Wilbarger County Farm Bureau Queen of 1970 and District 3 Farm Bureau Queen of 1970.

With the state honor Miss Capps will get to preside at Farm Bureau functions all over the state. She will also attend the National Farm Bureau Convention in Houston next month.

Though her schedule isn't complete, Miss Capps knows that she will have speaking engagements at FFA and Farm Bureau meetings throughout the state.

At Vernon High School the beauty was a cheerleader, a member of the National Honor Society, Basketball Queen, 4-H Riding Club Sweetheart, and Vernon Riding Club Queen.

Last year, judges selected her as Miss Vernon and the girls voted her Miss Congeniality. She attended the Miss Texas Pageant and found that the girls from large towns have not only make-up artists and hairdressers, but publicity agents, too.

"The girls from small towns had only a chaperone," she smiled. "We were really at a disadvantage."

Miss Capps noted that the Top Ten in the Miss Texas contest were all from large towns.

"I got to know Miss America, Phyllis George," she stated. "She was the logical winner of the pageant...she is the All-American girl."

"I was in the group with Belinda Myrick (the reigning Miss Texas). She can sing anything, not just country and western."

"I played two classical pieces on the piano, most of the girls sang," Miss Capps smiled, noting that Miss America also played piano.

"It was a bad year to play the piano," she laughed.

"I liked the pageant real well," she said. "There were 66 girls in last year's contest and next year they expect 70 or more."

The pretty coed is currently a junior at WTSU. She began her college career here as a freshman, then transferred to Midwestern University for one semester "to be closer to home"' She returned to WT this fall.

"WT has my kind of people," she stated. "Most have a rural background and come from smaller towns. I like the size. You know just about everyone here, yet there's always someone you'd like to meet."

The English and journalism major stated that upon graduation she wants to teach in a small town and hopes to raise registered quarter horses.

Miss Capps is on the WTSU Dean's List and is a reporter for "The Prairie."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gibson of Daugherty visited friends in Canyon last weekend, spending the nights with their son, Charlie, in Wildorado.

Miss Mitchell In UT Cast

Mary Lucille Mitchell, 1702 Second Avenue, is appearing in the University of Texas production of "The Trojan Women" this week.

The Greek classic opened Monday at the Hogg Auditorium on the UT campus. The show, written by Jean Paul Sartre, is directed by Laird Williamson and runs through Saturday.

Curtain time for the tragedy is set at 8 p.m.

The show is the second regular production of the 1970-71 season.

Other forthcoming productions will be Shakespeare's "Richard II," February 15-20; Mozart's opera "Cosi Fan Tutte," March 9, 11, 13, and 16, and the musical "Cabaret," April 19-24.

People who cook with pride cook with GAS. Mrs. Cecil Burke does.

Some of the world's best cooks are found in the kitchens of America, and they give themselves every cooking advantage, like gas range cooking.

Good cooks like Mrs. Burke and nine out of 10 professional chefs agree that precise temperature control makes the difference in good cooking, and with gas you get exactly that. Gas also gives immediate response and constant temperature, so important in oven cooking.

So, give yourself every advantage and cook with gas. Remember, people who cook with pride cook with gas.

Here's one of Mrs. Burke's favorite recipes.

Festive Foods To Please Holiday Party Guests

"Festive Foods" make the party, and part of the fun is in the preparation of the yummy recipes. Pictured is the Herbed Biscuit Ring, one of many recipes prepared at the Southwestern Public Service Festive Food event held Monday.

BY CAROL CRAIN

The excitement of the holidays calls for open houses, out-of-town guests, and family gatherings. . . and all types of parties call for "Festive Foods."

For the past seven years the Home Service Department of Southwestern Public Service has printed a "Festive Foods" recipe booklet and given them to persons who view their demonstration.

Monday afternoon some 80 women gathered at the Randall County Farm Bureau Building to watch Cynthia Stevens and Earnestine Gary prepare many of the recipes that are in this year's booklet. There was a tasting session after the demonstration.

Among the selection of festive foods are the following crowd pleasing recipes.

The appetizing Appetizer section includes Seafood Cheese Dip, Frosty Soup, and Chicken Chunks in Curry Dip.

Seafood Cheese Dip

4 jars (5 oz.) Old English cheese spread
2 cans (7 oz.) minced clams, crab, shrimp, or lobster
2 pods garlic, pressed or finely chopped
½ c. green onions, finely chopped
1 can (4 oz.) chopped chili peppers

Drain one can of the seafood. Combine all ingredients and heat slowly. Stir until melted. Serve hot with corn chips and rye crackers. Heat covered, 6 minutes, stirring twice during cooking.

Frosty Soup

2 cups tomato juice
2 packets instant beef broth
1 teaspoon salt
8 to 10 ice cubes

Place above ingredients except ice, in blender container. Cover, turn blender on high speed, then drop in one ice cube at a time until soup is thick and frosty. Serve soup in individual mugs.

Chicken Chunks in Curry Dip

4 whole broiler-fryer chicken breasts
2 cups water
1 small onion, sliced
2 stalks celery with leaves
1 teaspoon Ac'cent
1 teaspoon salt

Put chicken breasts in saucepan; add water and remaining ingredients. Bring to a boil; cover tightly. Reduce heat and simmer 30 minutes. Remove from heat; strain broth and refrigerate for later use. Remove skin and bones from breasts; cut meat in bit size pieces; chill.

For Curry Dip:
½ cup sour cream
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon chili sauce
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon curry powder
chopped parsley

Combine sour cream and mayonnaise; add chili sauce, lemon juice and curry powder; blend. Add chicken chunks to dip and marinate 1 hour. To serve, sprinkle with chopped parsley. Yield: 18 hors d'oeurve servings.

Two of the beverages listed in the booklet were Parsonage Punch and Strawberry Fluff Punch, both use vanilla ice cream.

Parsonage Punch

1½ cups pineapple juice
1 cup orange juice
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon maraschino cherry juice
1 pint vanilla ice cream
2 bottles (7 oz.) ginger ale, chilled

Combine fruit juices, honey and cherry juice; chill. Pour into punch bowl. Spoon in vanilla ice cream. Resting bottle on rim of punch bowl, carefully pour in ginger ale, stirring gently. Serve immediately. Makes about 5 cups.

Strawberry Fluff Punch

2 packages strawberry Kool-ade
1 gallon vanilla ice cream (softened)
2 pints frozen strawberries (thawed)

Mix Kool-ade as directed on package; chill. Place softened ice cream in punch bowl. Add thawed strawberries and stir. Just before serving, add chilled Kool-ade. Serves 35.

Yummy tasting recipes in the Breads section were the Herbed Biscuit Ring and the Chopped Apple Ring.

Herbed Biscuit Ring

3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 teaspoon lemon juice
Dash paprika
½ teaspoon celery seed
¼ teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
⅛ teaspoon rubbed sage
1 package refrigerated biscuits (10 biscuits)

Blend together butter or margarine, lemon juice, paprika, celery seed, thyme, and sage. Separate biscuits; dip each biscuit into herb butter, coating each thoroughly. Arrange biscuits in round 8 x 1½ inch pan to form ring, overlapping slightly. Bake in 400 degree oven for 15 to 18 minutes or until golden. Makes 10 servings.

Chopped Apple Ring

1 cup margarine
2 cups sugar
4 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
½ cup warm water
3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
3 large apples, peeled and chopped
1 cup chopped nuts

In large mixer bowl, cream together the margarine and sugar. Add eggs and blend well; add soda dissolved in the water. Combine flour, cinnamon, cloves, allspice and nutmeg; slowly blend into sugar mixture. Stir in apples that have been chopped rather finely; then stir in nuts. Bake in well-greased tube pan in preheated oven at 350 degrees. Bake from one hour to one hour 15 minutes or until done. This apple ring seems to improve in flavor if allowed to stand overnight before serving. It may be served as a coffee cake or dessert. If used as a dessert, you may want to top it with whipped cream. Because of the apples, this will keep well.

The section on Main dishes include Quiche Lorraine (pronounced Keesh). It is good for a brunch or main dish.

Quiche Lorraine

Unbaked pie shell
5 strips bacon
½ cup diced swiss cheese
¼ cup diced ham
1½ cup light cream (or half and half)
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
4 eggs

Fry bacon until crisp; drain on paper towel. Crush bacon and sprinkle over bottom of unbaked pie shell. Sprinkle cheese and ham over bacon. Place light cream, seasonings and eggs in blender container and blend well. Pour into pie shell. Have oven preheated to 350 degrees; place pie in oven and bake until top is a golden brown and mixture is set — about 30 minutes. If you prefer, use more bacon and eliminate the ham.

One of the most beautiful of all salads is the Cherry Salad Supreme. This combination makes 12 servings.

Cherry Salad Supreme

1 package (3 oz.) raspberry flavored gelatin
1 can (21 oz.) cherry pie filling
1 package (3 oz.) lemon-flavored gelatin
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
1/3 cup salad dressing
1 cup crushed pineapple, undrained
½ cup whipping cream, whipped
1 cup tiny marshmallows
2 tablespoons chopped nuts

Dissolve raspberry gelatin in 1 cup boiling water; stir in pie filling. Turn into 9 x 9 x 2 inch baking dish; chill till partially set. Dissolve lemon gelatin in 1 cup boiling water. Beat together cream cheese and salad dressing. Gradually add lemon gelatin. Stir in undrained pineapple. Fold the whipped cream and marshmallows into the lemon mixture. Spread atop cherry layer; top with the chopped nuts. Makes 12 servings.

Girl Cagers Lose In Overtime 53-43

Canyon's girl Eagles lost to Slaton 53-43 Tuesday night in a game that went into overtime.

The Eagles jumped into an early lead and were on top with a score of 11-7 at the close of the first period but were tied 19-19 at half time.

The Eagles had pulled ahead again 32-29 at the end of the third quarter but were tied again 43-43 at the end of regular play.

Slaton sank five points in the overtime holding Canyon scoreless.

Lynette Slack was high point for Canyon with 20 points to her credit. Leta Gill was runner up with 19. Joy Williams led in rebounds with 9 while Lynette Slack at forward got 8 rebounds.

Coach Bob Schneider said Gill and Slack played their best ball game to date this year. Williams was moved from forward to guard and has been doing an excellent job there.

"She has made the adjustment well and is going to help us a lot," Scheider said.

The Eagles were without the services of Cameron Davis and Slack in the overtime period as they had fouled out in the fourth quarter.

"We need experience and need to play," said Coach Scheider. He feels his team will be in shape by Christmas and district play.

Canyon defeated Darrouzett 57-56 last week end in a game decided in the last five seconds. Chris Tucker sank both free shots on a 1-1 situation with five seconds left in the game. It brought Canyon from a point behind to a point ahead. Darrouzett could not get the ball back down the court in time to score again.

Leta Gill was high point with 25 in that contest and Chris Tucker scored 19.

In their other contest of the season so far the girl Eagles were nudged 47-43 by Hale Center.

Blaze Destroys Truck-Tractor

A truck tractor was destroyed by fire on US 60 about 6 miles west of Canyon during the early morning hours Tuesday.

Roger Starkweather of Athens, driver of the truck, was asleep in the cab when the fire started. Fire Captain Joe Rice believes the blaze began as a result of a fuel leak on the engine.

Damage was estimated at about $18,000.

Final Games Set Today By Jr. High

Canyon Junior High School has a cinch on one district football title and at least two second places as the six teams wind up their season Thursday.

The seventh grade white and purple teams play each other at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon. If the white team wins it will emerge as the district champion. If the purple team wins then La Plata of Hereford will be district champs.

The eighth grade purple plays the eighth grade white for the district championship at 5:30. They are tied for first place.

The ninth grade purple plays the ninth grade white at 7 o'clock. The purple team has a 5-1 season record and the white team has a 3-4. If the purple win they will be second place in the district having been beaten only by La Plata.

In last week's play the ninth grade white lost to the Plainview Red Dogs 26-8 and the purple lost to the Blue Pups 20-8. The seventh grade purple lost to Dimmitt 36-0 and the eighth grade purple defeated Dimmitt 16-14.

Seventh grade white lost to Plainview Estacado 18-6 and the eighth grade white lost to Plainview Estacado 16-0.

West Texas has two conference foes scheduled for the 1971 season — Drake, Nov. 20 , in Buffalo Bowl, and Wichita State, Oct. 30, in Wichita, Kan., New Mexico State, which was admitted to the conference Sunday, is on the Buffalo schedule next year for Nov. 6 at Las Cruces, N.M.

Kerbel has been in contact with the remainder of the football playing members of the conference — North Texas State, Louisville, Tulsa and Memphis State — in hopes of landing additional games.

Although seven teams will be playing for the conference crown next year, only five of each team's games will count toward MVC title standings. New Mexico State will not compete for the championship next year.

were involved last year. The Buffaloes took a 6-3 record, which they presently have this season, into their final game at Hattiesburg and suffered a 10-9 defeat at hands of Southern Mississippi.

The Southerners combine a strong running game with a standout passing game. Quarterback Rick Donegan has hit on 119 of 231 passes for 231 yards and 1,135 yards. Larry Moulton leads the ground game with 624 rushing yards and seven touchdowns.

Donegan holds the school record for number of attempted passes, number of completions and yards gained. In his career, he has hit on 213 passes out of 408 attempts for 2,174 yards.

WTSU Works To Reduce Football Flight Risk

BY SAM ALLRED

The recent crashes of two airliners carrying athletic teams has an anxious nation holding its breath, but if such disasters can be averted West Texas State University is doing everything in its power to see they are.

Frank Kimbrough, WTSU assistant athletic director, said the school has been flying to away games since 1949 when "it took two planes to get us to Corpus Christi and one of the planes had seats facing each other."

The game of football has changed considerably since 1947, when Kimbrough first became associated with WTSU athletics, and the change has carried over into the area of transporting the teams.

"I would say we carry 15 to 20 more people when we travel now than we used to," he said. "We didn't have free substitutions and used a much smaller squad. We also now carry a lot more equipment on the flights."

A major change in the school policy, according to Virgil Henson, WTSU financial vice president, is shifting to regular scheduled flights rather than chartering aircraft.

"All our flights were commercial flights this year," he said. "It is not always possible because of the scheduling of the airlines."

Henson said the school first used a chartering service but an accident made them question the reliability of the firm.

The financial vice president said it cost the school about 15 per cent more to fly regular commercial flights but "we think we can't afford to charter one of those regular charter outfits."

Henson said the team averages five away games a year at a cost of between $50-60,000 a year.

"If we could do it for $50,000 we still think it would be better to spend $60,000," he said.

Kimbrough said the major airlines are "most cooperative," in arranging flights.

"I send all the major airlines a copy of our away games," he said. "Each airlines figures if it can handle the scheduled based on between 65-75 people. We have never had a game that no airline could handle and we have never had a game that more than one airline could handle."

The arrangement, though highly complicated, does not favor one airline over any other.

"We have a game in Des Moines on our 1972 schedule," he said. "I don't know how we are going to get there, I hear it is difficult even going by commercial airlines. But we can use Texas International three times in 1972 by flying into Love Field in Dallas. When we go to San Diego it will be by TWA."

The team often finds itself flying to the closest airport and then commuting by bus the rest of the way, according to the assistant athletic director.

Although Kimbrough and Henson both emphasize that WTSU has never had a bit of mechanical trouble on any of its flights, the vice president thinks of the past wistfully.

"Providing transportation for athletics has become extremely complicated," Henson said. "I sometimes think it would be better if we just played Goodwell, Okla., Texas Tech and Portales so we could go back to using a bus."

sue of specialized courses is extremely complicated.

"The budget from the legislature determines the hiring of new faculty," he said. "If new positions depend in essence on additional enrollment theoretically we would not have the funds for new courses."

Asked if he felt Afro-American courses could be justified on campus, Dr. Malzahn said "a course is supposedly justified if it satisfies a need which is widely enough felt among the student body that enough of the students will take the course."

"Surely we need to be more aware of the contributions of all the minority groups," he said.

The dean said that although "academic qualifications are the most important aspect of hiring instructors, we would be overjoyed to attract faculty from any minority group in any academic area."

serve Officer Training into the high school.

The officers told the board that ROTC would develop an elementary knowledge of the military, appreciation of the role of the US Army and discipline, self reliance and leadership.

Canyon could have a three or four year program but must eventually have 100 cadets enrolled. The program would teach such things as drill, military leadership and marksmanship.

Marksmanship would be taught with .22 caliber rifles. The cadet would incur no military obligation.

The board was advised that it should employ retired military personnel meeting the approval of the army — preferably a retired lieutenant colonel and a sergeant.

The Army would pick up most of the bill for the salaries. Also the school would be expected to provide class room, storage facilities and a drill field for the cadets.

The board took the matter under advisement. It will be discussed at a later meeting.

Lawrence Brotherton reported that four students at Umbarger are moving from the community leaving the enollment at 34. The school board is contemplating closing the school at mid-term and absorbing it into Rex Reeves Elementary School.

The board voted to accept a tract of 9.628 acres in Hunsley Hills for a future school site. The board agreed to pay the owner Arch Hunsley a dollar for the tract.

The contract with Hunsley stipulates that if no school is built on the site within 15 years of June 3, 1968 or if a school is built there and then ceases to operate as a school the tract will revert to Hunsley.

The board has called a special meeting for next Monday noon to discuss the school audit report and to have pictures taken for the school annual.

Christmas Decorations Must Wait

There will be no decorations for Twenty-Third Street and Fourth Avenue this year but there is hope for next year, Eddie Knowles, president of the Chamber of Commerce said this week.

Knowles said there is $550 in the spirit fund being collected to by Christmas decorations. About $3,000 is needed to do a minimum job.

However, Knowles pointed out that most business houses will decorate their store fronts this year so there will be a Christmasy atmosphere in spite of the fact that it won't be what the Chamber had hoped to accomplish.

"The money will go into a saving fund and we'll start earlier next year and get it done," Knowles declared. "I hope the people will open their eyes this year.

"I'm going to outline my building in red and I hope the other merchants will do it too."

From the class of 1968 six artists were asked to exhibit. They are Virginia Grimes, Marsha Hardaway, Barbara Manz, Marjorie Miller, Penny Warren, and Rick Wilson.

Two Charged In Marijauna Case

Two 22-year-old area men were arraigned Wednesday morning before Justice of the Peace W. A. "Bill" Wilson, charged with possession of marijuana and had bonds set at $2,000 each.

Johnson Benefield of Hereford and Charles Dones, who listed a South Washington address in Amarillo, were arrested about 11:30 p.m. Tuesday by Department of Public Safety Patrolmen Ron Boyter and Larry McLendon.

Boyter said he and his partner observed an automobile driven by Benefield "weaving across the highway" on the Canyon Expressway about five miles north of Canyon.

When the patrolmen approached the car, McLendon smelled what seemed to be marijuana smoke, and the officers found what appeared to be marijuana seeds and leaves in the car.

Benefield was testd for alcohol consumption at DPS office in Amarillo and the test registered "zero," according to Boyter.

"We observed that the men were under the influence of something and we know it wasn't alcohol," he said.

Both suspects have been indicted by Potter County grand juries for drug violations, according to Jerry Shackleford, Potter County Assistant District Attorney. Dones was indicted for the sale of marijuana and Benefield for sale of a dangerous drug, Shackleford said.

The suspects posted bond and were released from the Randall County jail late Wednesday.

However, in his own words, "the show is over." Mr. Tyler will tell in the Canyon service how he decided to quit his way of life to become a preacher of the Gospel. He was converted in the early part of 1958 and has since devoted his full time to Gospel work.

He was catapulted to nationwide fame in 1948 with his hit "Deck of Cards," which he wrote. Some of his other big record hits were"Remember Me," "Bumming Around," "Courtin' in the Rain," and many others.

He will be playing his guitar and singing many gospel songs. T. Texas Tyler is an ordained minister.

Pastor A. J. Pettit expects a capacity crowd and suggests an early attendance. The service is open to the public and admission is free.
